Dawn Doga

Dawn,
I met you in Jr. high and I've liked you ever since. You are the kind of person that nobody could dislike. Your personality is great.
If times were better, I'm sure that our relationship would be better. Hey, the future is for you. And I know that you will be successful. I just want to wish you
so. Good luck;

Sincerely,
Shawn Hudson

Dawn,
I'm really glad I met you this year! You're a really sweet person.
I hope we become better friends.
Hope we're in the future and forever!

Queer: disco: abba ya. a what groover!!

WELL-if yaid tell me where i start, maybe i could, but then, we're so good at telling each other what to do (ESPECIALLY you!!) (ha! ha!) (one of our MANY jokes ☺) you know... i really don't know what i would do w/out you (i don't even remember how it was when you weren't around! (may by better for all i know ☺... JOKE!!)

We've been through so- so- so much together (from learning how to drive to... aren't ya? aren't ya?) i know somehow we'll make it... we've got too!!

If you weren't so much like me, then i proberly wouldn't put up with you. but you are, so i guess we're stuck with other (lucky) you!! ☺)

Seriously... you are my very best friend & i feel like i can turn to you with Anything & Everything. i hope you feel the same way. Thanks so, so, much for all of our great times (we'll forget the "NOT SO GREAT ONES") i'll remember them 4EVER & a day.

NO matter what you think.. you are BEAUTIFUL inside & out PLEASE know that I mean that (you're even Beautiful when i have my glasses on, so you must be great... (& i guess i'll say it.... you're skinny) only i'll still EXERCISE!!

I don't guess I don't have to write a book just to tell you how much i treasure your friendship. it really does mean the world to me (how mushy ☺). Thanks again for everything... you're the Greatest & NONE less.

FRIENDS FOREVER!!! much LOVE (of course) & GOD BLESS ALWAYS, SUSAN

Corridors of time, study, and friends

The halls buzzed with excitement as the anxious students filled the long aisles. Whether we were new students here for the first time or returning for the last, we all mingled together in the corridors. These hallways have seen good times and bad, old friends and new. These hallways have been a friend of Forest Park students for the past ten years.

The average student spends almost seventy-five hours a year in the halls. Much of this time is spent talking to friends, complaining about homework and teachers, and just trying to get to class on time. However; no matter what it was, the time we spent in the halls will never be forgotten. Therefore, we the yearbook staff, give you our book: CORRIDORS.

A corridor is a pathway

Can you call a corridor just a hall,

With shiny floors, and echoing walls.

The clocks, the lockers, the books inside,

The bells, the people, the bustling stride.

A hallway by definition, but perhaps a little more.

A corridor is a pathway, not just a floor.

A pathway leading to teachers and friends,

The roadway of knowledge that never ends.

New Trojans

'Howdy' Y'all

The cowboy and cowgirl twirled their rope and spelled it out — "A Trojan Howdy Texas Style" on September 15.

Armadillos and longhorns came to life on the walls as students kicked to the beat of "Cotton-eye Joe." The band, Sound Express, played tunes from the fifties, Country-Western, and disco while propped in front of an orange Texas map.

"Howdy" was also a victory dance after the Trojans topped the Bridge City Cardinals, 14-12.

The freshman elected Kyle Sterling and Kelli Barclay as Mr. and Miss Howdy.

Colby Gober took pictures of patient couples and the Student Council members provided refreshments.

Highlighted by college tee-shirts, ghosts and goblins, black leather jackets and western attire, student participation contributed in creating a spirited Homecoming.

Approximately 42 graduates revisited their old stomping grounds on Friday while earlier in the week decorations for the dance and car parade were being prepared.

The annual bonfire on Tuesday night, ran high in school spirit as cheerleaders chanted and students danced to the beat of the band. As the fire began to flicker, the band encircled the fire playing Young Lions.

The Homecoming Pep Rally hosted a variety of activities. Starting with the car parade, three prizes were awarded. First place went to HECE for their car decoration combined with a trailer carrying Egor and students. Second place was given to Joe Buser and his colorful creation of converting his Volkswagen into a silver bug with cardboard wings flapping at the sides. Third place was awarded to FFA and their float, a blue truck blaring the strains of The Eyes of Texas. It carted a trailer load of mustangs and a sign that summed it up, "Corral the Mustangs."

Junior Patricia Campbell said of the week's activities, "I think the team was greatly supported by all the school spirit shown that week."

Projects enhance school system

An excellent school system is one that corraborates with members of the community to inform citizens and produce students that will be able to excel in later life.

In the case of informing students, Forest Park held its second annual Career Night on December 4. Over 280 students attended the event. Although more students came the previous year, Mr. Mike Waidley, mastermind of the operation, said, "The students that came were very interested."

The main project for the Parents and Teachers Association (PTA) was the Mary Thacker Nixon Memorial Reading Room. The first fundraising project was the Sock Hop which provided the room with carpet, furniture, and a trophy case. The memorial was formerly the library classroom.

Other projects for the year included reducing the speedlimits around the school and selling spirit pennants.

Forty citizens of the community viewed Forest Park in December. The idea behind this project was to let the public know that FP was doing a quality job. Students were also given the chance to show their pride in the school.

These citizens were chosen by individual students. The Student Council asked students to submit names of people they would like to visit the school.

Junior Lori Frantz escorted Mrs. LaCosta, a business representative from Lambs Printing, around the school. Lori said Mrs. La Costa was impressed by the school and the studentbody.

Principal Jerry Mallett said this community project has proved successful and will continue next year.

Homecoming 'sails away'

The Trojans defeated West Orange-Stark to bring a victorious end to a spirited week.

The highlight of the Homecoming game was the announcement of the court. Julie Johnson was chosen as the 1978 Homecoming queen. Freshman duchesses were Caren Cone and Kelly Whitney. Sophomore duchesses were Sarah Bloodsworth and Mary Anne Whitsitt. Junior duchesses were Sally Moore and Anne Daleo. Senior princesses were Vicki Stivers, Kate Blackwell, Laurie Mayer, and Christi Reidmuller. The court was paraded around the field in shiny Corvettes, courtesy of the Tri-City Corvette Club.

The Homecoming Dance was sponsored by the Student Council on November 3 in the cafeteria from 10 til 1. The theme for the dance was "Come Sail Away." The band, Dopple Ganger, played predominantly disco music.

The committee in charge of decorations was headed by Susan Kobrin and Melinda Thomason. The entrance to the cafeteria was transformed into a scenic waterfall waiting to drench passersby with its tinsel water. In biblical times, Moses parted the water. In Trojan times, Ms. Womack performed the service as couples walked into the dance.

Hard work brings success

A lively level of communication prevailed during the fifth annual Blue and Speech Tournament at Forest Park, October 27-28. This tournament was a state qualifier for the Texas Forensic Association. In order to be a state qualifier for the Forensic Association, thirty schools must participate.

Co-director Terri Harrel said, "There was a problem in gathering thirty schools for the tournament." Johnny Remirez served as the other co-director.

Forest Park speech and drama students started planning for the tournament the first day of school. During the week before the tournament, those involved worked after school every day putting together the speech booklets as well as selling ads to local businesses to raise money for trophies.

Senior Kathy Lagaza and Junior Lisa Arena served as events chairmen for the tournament. They described their job as exciting, but nerve-wracking. Chairmen were responsible for making sure the ballots were given to each student and seeing that all rules were followed.

Close to 250 people from Forest Park took part in the tournament. Tro-Janns and Student Council members offered their services with time-keeping and bringing refreshments.

Mr. Lee Spears and Ms. Kay Ogden were the faculty sponsors for the Festival.

What made game night great in '78?

The crisp cadence of the Trojan Band cut through the chilly autumn night as hundreds of people filled into the stadium. Student Council members could be seen climbing up the stadium bleachers selling FP football programs. Cheerleaders generated school spirit through the stadium yelling "We've got spirit, yes we do." "We've got spirit, how about you?"

As the American flag rose majestically up the flag pole, Jeanine Thames backed by the Trojan Band sang the National Anthem.

After the invocation was given, the band led the way for the team entrance into the stadium playing the peppy fight song. Spirit ran high as students rallied to support their successful Trojan team.

The faithful Trojan mascot Egor had a new companion — a live Trojan, King Harrell. King was sponsored by the Trojan Boosters.

Sparkling halftime entertainment included a military precision drill performed by the band and Trojan Flags followed by jazz dance routines given by twirlers and Tro-Janns.

A lot of people cared — students, faculty, organizations, and the football team. These people made game night great in '78.

TWIRP — the chance to ask your dream guy out to a week of fun-filled activities finally arrived for the FP female population on February 12-16.

Twirp began Monday with half-and-half day. Students combined tuxedo jackets with blue jeans and silk dress shirts with baggy Khaki pants.

The faculty-senior basketball game was also on Monday. The faculty emerged as victors in both rounds despite the seniors' hard work. Tro-Johns and faculty cheerleaders provided half-time entertainment.

Students came as Senior Citizens on Tuesday. The Fine Arts Club Talent Show on Tuesday night provided fun entertainment for girls and their dates.

Wednesday was "Cupid's Day" as Valentines were distributed during first period classes. Students also wore red to celebrate the day of love with many carrying carnations sold by the Latin Club.

Students decked out in warm-up suits and baseball uniforms for Sportsman's Day on Thursday.

Activities came to a close on Friday with Western Day and the dance.

The theme for the dance was "Love is in the Air." Not only did the females choose their dates, but they also chose the Twirp court. The winners were: Freshman, Clint Etie; Sophomore, Dan Thomas; Junior, Tommy Tubbs; and Seniors, Kammy Fowler, Culver Stedman, and Craig Moorman. The Twirp King was Joe Farris.

Pep rallies revive spirit

"FPH all the way" was the spirit of the '78 pep rally scene. Attractions included decorated cars, King Harrell dressed as a Trojan Warrior, as well as performances given by Tro-Janns, Trojan Flags, band members, twirlers, and tumblers.

During the week of preparation for the Port Neches game, school spirit reached an all time high. Cars were decorated with white shoe polish and ribbons; students were exuberant, letting the team know the studentbody was supporting them. Cheerleader sponsor Edith Barclay said, "I've never seen spirit in ten years like the PNG week."

As the traditional rivalry between French and Forest Park rolled around the corner, student participation excelled again resulting in another week filled with decorations, graffiti and several "Stomp the Buffaloes" signs.

The faculty presented an extravaganza skit on the Ole Frontier during the Friday pep rally. Varsity cheerleaders, cast as the fierce raging buffalo, destroyed the quiet happy home of Indian princess Mini Haha (Mrs. Debbie Minyard), Buffalo Bill (Mr. Michael Waidley), and their little papoose. However, Mr. Don Branham, dressed as a mighty Trojan, galloped into the stadium on a majestic horse and destroyed the buffalo. An orchestra quintet performed a catchy country tune to tie in the theme. "Since there was more participation during the French pep rally, spirit was increased", said Senior Donna Fenner.

Mrs. Margaret Kirkindall, student activities director, said the students' attitude had improved. It seems this year pep rallies were welcomed, opening a door in better relations between students and teachers.

Senioritis attacks seniors

An epidemic known as Senoritis spread throughout the FP graduating class of 79 like wildfire.

Senioritis, a disease that not much is known about, seems to affect only seniors. Seniors admitted to experiencing such symptons as homework-phobia, defined as an innate fear of completing lesson assignments, as well as Friday fever which can only be remedied by missing a day of school.

Although many seniors used block schedules, they still kept busy with extra-curricular activities.

Fish tags were distributed to the lowly freshmen in September. The tags symbolized senior seniority. Seniors participated in such activities as powder-puff and the senior-faculty basketball game held during Twirp week. Seniors played, coached and refereed the game. With the help from sponsors Mr. Don Branham, Mrs. Betty Farr and Mrs. Judy Lucia, the senior class sold FP Trojan mugs to raise money for the picnic and prom.

One important contribution to Forest Park from the senior class and its officers was the establishment of the Alumni Association. Former graduates were invited to re-visit Forest Park on Homecoming Friday. The Alumni attended Homecoming pep rally and afterwards joined the senior officers for a reception in the library. Close to 50 ex-students visited the school.

Marquee Players rock with '50's

They arrived at the small hot room at 6 p.m. as they mumbled lines to themselves. They took on new faces in preparation for a long-rehearsed event. Suddenly, everyone was hushed as strangers waited just beyond a thick blue curtain. It was opening night.

The musical for 1978 was "Rock-n-Roll," a "love in the fifties" production directed by Mrs. Kay Ogden.

This musical was unique when compared to past projects at Forest Park. Ms. Ogden said, "'Rock-n-Roll' was different from the others because it wasn't Broadway material. Also, more than the usual number of actors were unexperienced."

The actors and actresses practiced after school from 7 til 9 for about a month and a half. After a while, the same routine ran into a rut. One Saturday had its thrills and suspense, though. While assembling the sound system, Eric Bernstein's back-up crew on the ladder was "out to lunch." The ladder slipped and Eric got a quick trip to the floor. He was taken to the hospital and came out with a bandage on his arm.

The musical, with its share of song and dance, went over well with the audience. Corndoggie and his struggle to impress the girl of his dreams was the basic plot. He was backed up by Duffy and Manfred and the Rah-Rah girls. Two of the three performance nights were sold out.

A lot of people who contributed to the play were not exposed to the limelight. The stage manager was Abby Goldstein. Costumes were headed by Sarah Vaughan. The Construction crew was composed of members from the cast and Drama I, II, and III classes. The music was recorded. Musicians were Cindi Surratt, Glen Campbell, Chris Phelan, and Terry Ling.

Moving towards new goals

No longer underclassmen, the junior class found themselves facing new experiences every day. For some, classes alone filled their days. However, some found that they enjoyed participating in extracurricular activities. To sponsor the Junior-Senior Prom, for example, the juniors sold those ever popular magazine subscriptions.

The Powder Puff football game also gave juniors a chance to participate. While the girls donned T-shirts to play the game, junior boys grabbed their pom-poms to play cheerleaders.

The 1978-79 officers were: Bobby Roubion, president; Linda Holmes, vice-president; Georganne Simpson, treasurer; and Connie Parsons, secretary. Their sponsors were Mr. Jack Holton and Mrs. Connie Pate.

Whether they participated in these activities or merely attended class, it was a period of fun and adjustment. And as they participated together, they grew together.

Winter ball and holidays arrive

If people didn't watch the calendar in Beaumont, they would have never known it was winter. Students wore light jackets straight through December. Nevertheless, experts said it was winter and who were we to argue. Also, decorations, assemblies, Winter Ball, and Christmas vacation proved the season to be here.

Winter Ball was on January 19. Everyone in polyester suits carried spots into the dance after being drenched by the rain. There was a fantastic response to the band, Fahrenheit, after the band members talked and joked with students between songs.

Charlie Lowe and Julie Johnson were elected King and Queen by the students.

The PTA sponsored a pre-holiday assembly. Representatives from each language club told of the traditions carried down through the years in other countries. The choir also performed.

A door decorations contest was sponsored by the Student Council before the holidays. The Grand Prize went to Ms. Betty Rubin's first period class. The door had the Spanish names of the students pasted on under a bouncing Santa. Mr. Ed Dunn's first period won First Prize. This World History Class put a live tree on the door and decorated it with (what else?) Gummi Bears. Ms. M. E. Smith's class was awarded second place with third being shared by Ms. Ethel Emmons and Ms. Litha Woddail.

Candy builds prom fund

The sophomore class, sponsored by Coaches Keith Elliot and Al Rabb, held a candy sale during February and March. The students sold Reese's, Krackle, and Almond Bars. The profits went to the "Class of 81" treasury, which is to finance their Junior-Senior Prom.

Sophomores participated in other Student Council activities during the year. Many helped by donating toys for needy children at Christmas. Others gave canned goods for the poor, during a food drive, and a few participated in the Muscular Dystrophy Dance-athon.

Talent shows

Those FP student body members with hidden talents were given a chance to do their "own thing" during two separate talent shows held at different times this year.

The Fine Arts Club presented their talent show during Twirp week, February 13 and 15. Acts ranged from the soft mellow sounds of Sharon Streety to the up-beat music of the stage band.

A variety in dance was offered as Laura Segura performed a classic ballet solo while Kelli Barclay demonstrated the latest in disco.

Moving to the groove of Glen Campbell's drum beats those outrageous gotcha-girls, Carolyn Fickenscher and Tammy Stroud, introduced the acts on sizzlin' posters.

The Blues Brothers, Dan Duhon and Alan Katzen, added humor to the show with their wails of "I've gotta go to the bathroom." Proceeds from the Fine Arts Club Talent Show went to Stylus and the Fine Arts Club.

The PTA Talent Show was presented in the Little Theater April 3. This PTA sponsored event featured 15 acts including Ronnie Walker performing "Pin Ball Wizard" on the electric piano, and a twirling routine presented by Amy Stansbury and Karen Cox.

Auditions for the talent show were held the Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday before April 3 in the gym during third period.

The student body was given a chance to listen to various students trying out. Judging the show were Mr. Dean Fishburn, Mr. Lowell Clark, Ms. Kay Ogden, and Mr. Lee Spears. Ms. Marilyn Hebert coordinated the auditions.

The PTA Talent Show was free and open to the public.

'Fish' dive into activities

The first two weeks of school spelled out excitement and anticipation for the freshman class as they joined the Trojan student body of 1978-79.

Although the first couple of days were a little trying, they adjusted well to an environment filled with seniors and their commands. The strains of "I Love You, Seniors" could be heard throughout the lunches. Freshman Ted Weber explained, "I had to dance around on the tables yelling 'I love Seniors'."

The freshman officers for the year were Clint Etie, President; David Reynard, Vice President; Leanne Hill, Secretary; and Karen Carson, Treasurer.

That all important money-making project for the freshmen was the sale of M&M's. The "fish" worked hard on the sale and five of them were awarded cash prizes for their efforts. The highest seller was David Luke, who sold $311 worth of the candies and was presented $50. Billy Townsley received second place and $25, with Janet Whitaker taking third place and $15. Brian Bauer's sales totaled fourth, and he was given $10 with Jay Prichard receiving fifth and $5. The project started January 29 and ended February 9.

The Freshman sponsors were Mrs. Deborah Minyard and Mrs. Exeen Morgan.

Students excel in UIL competition

UIL, University Interscholastic League, is comprehensive. It covers events ranging from tennis to orchestra. More important, the Interscholastic League offers an opportunity for students all over the state to compete. Nine area high schools compete in our 22-AAAA district.

This year Principal Jerry Mallett was chosen as director-general for UIL. Due to Mr. Mallett's leave of absence, Mr. Harry Neville filled the position. Since UIL spans from fall over to spring the responsibilities of director-general included the selection of directors along with organizing the contest and event schedule.

Six of Forest Park's teaching faculty served as contest managers for the literary meet held at Lamar University. Contest managers located judges, arranged test materials, and tabulated results.

Those speech students excelling at UIL included the team of Johnny Remirez and Bill Miranda who placed first in debate. In informative speaking, Brian Reeves placed second while Mike Breedlove took third. Walter Kiefer took second in Science and Carla Ackers placed third in headline writing for Journalism. Placing fifth in shorthand was Vicki Stivers.

On March 29, the one act play "The Mad Woman of Chaillot" entered competition at Lamar. The play walked away with first place in zone and third in district. "The Mad Woman", Terri Harrel, was awarded Best Actress in both zone and district. All star honors went to Kent Melancon, Kathy Legaza and Chris Phelan in zone. District All Star honors went to Debbie Conn and Kathy Legaza.

In April, choir members competed in the UIL Solo and Ensemble Contest at Nederland High School. Those FP students participating received 97 superior ratings thus setting a record for the regional event.

Held the week before, band students competing in UIL brought home 50 first divisions. Seven first divisions were awarded to those orchestra students competing at UIL. At concert and sight-reading contest held May 8, the orchestra was awarded two superior ratings.

For information concerning UIL sport contests see individual sports pages starting on page 150.

Game brings senior triumph

The rivalry between the juniors and seniors turned into a punch-hit, run-catch football game at the annual Powder Puff game on March 15. As usual, the seniors won 16-14.

Both teams practiced after school with the help of their coaches. Junior coaches were Ms. Beth Hare, Ms. Marie Seaberg, Kirby Smith, Tommy Osborne, J. C. Richardson, and Bobby Roubion. Senior coaches were Ms. Kay Mullins, Ms. Mary Ann Davis, Robbie Carswell, Bronco Clay, Donnie Warner, and Craig Moorman.

Announcements were made each day to scare the opposing team and exalt their own team.

"The thing I liked most about it was meeting new people and getting to know friends better," said Junior Laura McClelland. "I thought the game was too rough though."

The seniors left with a victory while the juniors left waiting for next year.

Proms — time

The theme for Junior-Senior Prom, May 5, was a word for everyone present at the Harvest Club. Juniors were saying hello to 1980 while Seniors were saying goodbye to their year at the top.

The Oriental theme was carried out through the efforts of the decorations committee. The entrance was lined with oriental fans and umbrellas with invitations being deposited into a large bowl. Tables had centerpieces made of paper dragons, umbrellas, and fortune cookies. The main decoration was the scroll on the south wall.

Mr. George Turner waltzed with a man-sized fish after one senior pulled the paper contraption off the wall.

Although the dress code didn't require tuxedos, most of the party-goers donned their rented threads for the night.

Powerhouse reappeared as the band for the evening. They kept their standard of being a good band.

In all, the nine till one dance was one to remember because of its significance to the last years of high school.

of festivity

Senior Prom, the magical event of the year fell on May 25. For the class of '79, "The Prom" could be likened to icing on a cake of events since the Senior Picnic was held earlier that day.

The Red Carpet ballroom provided a complimentary backdrop to FP seniors decked out in colorful summer formals and rainbow hued tuxedos. Freedom of choice was offered to seniors on the lines of delicacies.

Powerhouse provided music for the Prom. The band possessed seemingly favorable rapport with their audience. Salty western calls ignited the band who responded with a rousing Cotton-Eyed-Joe. Seniors boogied when the band jammed with music from the Doobie Brothers.

The Prom, which crowned a year of senior activities, lasted from 6:30 till 12:30.

A Trojan day in the sun

The day of fun and games arrived on a bright sunny Tuesday, April 23.

For a few FP students Trojan Games Day started around 7:15 on bicycles. Anyone interested in joining the bike caravan met at Westgate Church. A policeman escorted the group to FP.

Games and special events started around 12 noon with the announcements of senior superlatives. As students filed in the stadium, the scent of hamburgers, chili dogs and donuts greeted them. Tro-Janns provided diet drinks for those concerned with keeping their waistlines intact.

The Speech Club enticed students craving spicy foods with hot cheezy pizza.

Many students brought along their blankets and sun tan oil to soak in the glorious summer sum. Others worked for a tan by riding bicycles and participating in sack races.

Any girl desiring a sneak preview of those outrageous summer fashions watched the Trojan spring fashion show. The fashion show included having a secret bag of mix-matched clothes to put on. The first person to put on their bag of clothes won. Kyle Hopper won first place.

One new attraction this year included music from White Hart Band. The band entertained their enthusiastic audience for over an hour. Junior Billy Shearns sang "Johnny B Goode" while Trey Barclay sang a variety of songs.

Any students tiring of the summer sun could find fast relief at the Student Council Dunking Booth.

The FP stage band along with the choir performed as a finale to Trojan Games Day.

Credit for the organization of games day should go to Ann Seibert, Mrs. Maragret Kirkindall, and ICC Representatives.

Banquet honors athletes

The All Sports Banquet was held Thursday, May 8, in the school cafeteria. Decorated blue and white footballs, basketballs and golf balls danced on the cafeteria walls. It was a time set aside to honor athletes who worked hard at accomplishing goals for FP and themselves.

Head Coach Paul Carswell announced the recipients of various football awards. The Trojan Award went to Jefferson Hanna. The Forgotten Man Award (given to the player who deserved more recognition than he received) went to Clifton Marshall. Other football honors were: Best Blocker — Robert Carswell; Best Improved Player — Ronnie Walker; Most Valuable Defensive Player — Mark Nicholson; Most Valuable Offensive Player — Trey Barclay.

Boyd Bryan and Van Barry were awarded tennis scholarships for their achievements. Melody DuPerior received second in All-District Volleyball.

Coach Tim Batson announced the honors for Baseball. Most Valuable player awards went to Kemp Mead and Steve Woodward.

In Basketball, Steve Woodward was recognized as team captain. Tommy Tubbs was named to second team All District Basketball. Britt Birmingham made All District honorable mention.

Lamar's new head coach, Larry Keenan, presided as guest speaker.

Varsity players from all the sports were announced.

Cheerleaders bring home the spirit stick

There's more to this position than jumping and screaming, of course, and our cheerleaders worked particularly hard this year. In July, the varsity and JV went through cheerleading camps where they compiled a grand total of eight superior ribbons and one excellent ribbon for individual events. Both squads got nominations for the Coca-Cola award, which goes to the outstanding cheerleaders at the camp. They also came back with the all-important spirit stick, which has always been a memorable addition to the pep rallies.

Spirit towels were sold along with the ribbons, and students bought them to show their school spirit. This proved to be good for fund raising, since school spirit was stronger this year than most other years in the past.

After teaching the freshmen their cheers, the varsity went on to teach the cheerleaders at All Saints School. They also had fun with other activities like painting banners and signs, and the message box in the library for Valentines Day.

Tro-Janns, a group that works together

The 1979 Tro-janns learned more than high kick routines and how to decorate lockers. They learned that "more can happen when a group works together as one," said Theresa Adams, lieutenant. They gained new friends and experiences that many say they will never forget. Kelli Barclay, captain, said "being captain of such a happy family was like a dream come true."

Much of their memories will be of Mrs. Mary Anne Davis, who served her last year as sponsor of the precision drill team. Catherine Darling, Vice-President said, "Tro-janns could never have been the close knit group we were without the love and devotion of our sponsor, Mrs. Mary Anne Davis."

The Tro-janns, while still serving Forest Park, also traveled to state competitions. They attended the Miss Texas Drill Team Competition and Pageant, along with 46 AAAA schools and returned with Sweepstakes. Kelli Barclay got second runner up out of 162 other girls to get Miss Texas Drill Team.

On the night of the Tro-Jann Banquet there was "the flood." Some of the Tro-Janns stayed at Jay Hanna's house, some with Mr. Ozio, while others ended their year by swimming home.

Silks fly high

For their sixth season at Forest Park, the Trojan Flags acquired a new name, new equipment, and a new sponsor, Mr. Lowell Clark. In addition to marching at halftime with the band, the team contributed to pep rallies in new uniforms. They also had miniature flags to draw attention in the bleachers.

At the start of football season, the team was able to learn new movements and techniques when they sponsored a special flag corps clinic at Forest Park, which hosted flag teams from all over the U.S.

Trojan Flags captain Suzette Oomer said, "The team worked hard for perfection and unity. They did an outstanding job." Suzette also had help with leading the group from sergeants Donna Reed and Susan Pettis.

Team tumbles into action

For the first time, three girls got together to form a bona fide tumbling team at Forest Park. This featured freshman gymnast Kristi Eitel and sophomores Molly Newcomer and Angela Scoggin. These girls worked on their gymnastics at the West End YMCA and were considered intermediate, or Class II, gymnasts.

All three girls were also on the gym team at the Y, and in March they earned medals in the Y's Texas State Women's Gymnastics Meet. Their winnings helped greatly to sweep the first place trophy at that meet, and between them, they entered in all the events that were judged, and placed in most.

Since this was a unique group, the Forest Park Tumblers did not compete in gymnastics with other area schools, but instead appeared at basketball games as a sideline attraction. Highlights of their floor show were maneuvers taken from their gymnastics rountines.

Twirlers drill to perform dances

Have you ever wondered how much hard work and how many long hours of practice the twirlers put in to reach their peak of perfection?

These girls begin practicing in mid-summer when they attended Kilgore Twirling Camp.

When they returned from camp they adopted movements from different routines they learned, and assembled their own dance to music performed by the band.

In August the twirlers and the band began learning drills and started teaching the underclassmen marching fundamentals.

When school started they practiced every day to improve their techniques.

"Every girl on the line must be in step exactly in order to produce a common style," said Tammy Parker, a junior twirler.

This year the twirlers danced at three pep rallies and performed during halftime at all the football games. They also gave a special Thanksgiving performance for the First Baptist Church at Babe Zaharias Stadium. "It really makes you feel good about performing when you know you have done a good job," said Tammy.

They also went to UIL solo and ensemble contest where they received a superior rating in solo and an excellent rating in ensemble.

EGOR

"Strong in spirit", as in the song, perfectly described the feeling that came to heart when Egor was carried onto the field down the sidelines. The crowd always seemed to go wild when the fight song was fired up and the "mighty Trojan" paraded up and down the sidelines, carried by the equally enthused Egor Boys.

Though Egor was but a statue, truly, he lived in the hearts of all Forest Park students.

Dances, food drives, Car washes, etc., etc.

Many people don't realize how much hard work the Student Council put into the school functions. The group sponsored all of the dances, and also cleaned up afterwards. The Student Council had a car wash, a can food drive, a book drive for the library, and collected for the muscular dystrophy fund. There were over 70 members in all.

Many students strove to work their way on to the Student Council by doing many different little jobs. They sold programs at football games, worked in concession stands, and cleaned up after dances.

The Council wrapped up the year by sponsoring Trojan Games Day which lasted the entire afternoon.

Mrs. Margaret Kirkindall served as the advisor for the Student Council. In May, elections were held for the 79-80 president and Kirby Smith was elected.

F.H.A. serves community

The Future Homemakers of America began the year with the installation of officers. They were: Charlotte Lovell, President; Robin Moye, 1st vice-president; Christine Wells, 2nd vice-president; Debbie Deland, 3rd vice-president; Brenda Jones, Historian; Tanya Garza, Secretary; Martha Zoch, Treasurer; Sarah Moore, vice-president of recreation.

FHA members sold candy to help pay for Christine Wells to go to Washington D.C. for a national FHA convention. Near the end of October, they presented a Halloween party for young children. Debbie Deland said, "We fixed up a spook house, had a fortune teller, told stories, and had refreshments. It was fun; the children really enjoyed themselves."

In December, FHA made doll clothes for needy children. "Also," said Mrs. Compton, "we made stockings for the local hospitals." In February, the Sweetheart and Beau Banquet was held. The Sweetheart and Beau were Robin Moye and Joey Warner. Former Beau Donnie Warner said, "It was an honor being named FHA Beau for '78, but I think it was more of an honor seeing my brother trying to fill my shoes."

Also in February, they participated in the National Baby Week, sponsored by the March of Dimes. They set up a booth in Parkdale to help advise women in prenatal care. They raised money for the Autumn Hills Rock-n-Roll Jamboree for the American Heart Association. On Trojan Games Day, the FHA members sold lemonade and homemade cookies.

Marching to the Trojan beat

The Trojan Band acquired a new director, Mr. Lowell Clark. In early August the band practiced every day from 8 a.m. until 12 noon and then after school several days a week.

Besides preparing for football games and contest, the band participated in many activities. Volunteer band members played for the Homecoming bonfire. Members sold candles and made over $2,000.

In February, 48 band members competed in the University Interscholastic League (UIL) Solo and Ensemble contest. Out of the 48 who participated, 21 received superior ratings and four received excellent ratings.

Seven band members participated in All-Region Band. Senior David Bedee made first chair clarinet with Clary Knapp making fourth chair. Eric Brown and Sheryl Weeks were also in this section.

French horn players Tish Johnson and Mary Wolcott made fifth and seventh chairs. Drum major Mark Farnie made second chair alto saxophone.

In All-State Band auditions, David Bedee was awarded the number one position from the area. This was David's third year to be chosen as a member of an All-State musical organization.

On March 23, the band competed in UIL Concert and Sight Reading Contest in Little Cypress Mauriceville. The Wind Ensemble received an excellent rating in concert, and a superior rating in sight reading.

The Band Boosters sponsored a picnic for band members at Lake Tejas.

At the end of the year, Drum Major tryouts were held and Clary Knapp was selected for the 1979-80 Drum Majorette.

FFA, doing to learn

"Learning to do, doing to learn, earning to live, and living to serve" was the motto of the 107 members of the Future Farmers of America.

The FFA officers were elected in the fall and the club started their annual fruit sale. They sold 3, 557 boxes of oranges and grapefruit.

The Christmas social was in December and ten sweetheart candidates were nominated. On January 4, Catherine Broussard was elected as the 1978-79 Chapter Sweetheart.

As for shows and competitions, the FFA did well. At the Winnie Rice Festival in October, the Senior Rice Judging Team placed first. The team of Kelli Gentry, Bill Kiker, Daryl Beach, and David Martin also placed first at the South Texas State Fair. Combined, the prize money amounted to $250 for the Chapter. The Junior Rice Judging team placed second at Winnie and first at the STSF. They received trophies.

Twenty-two FP students participated in the South Texas State Fair with exhibitions ranging from livestock to poultry. FFA members also participated in the Huntsville State Dairy Show and the Houston Livestock Show.

On May 10 the FFA had its annual end of the year banquet, with 290 in attendance. Top student awards were given. The Star Greenhand Award went to David Mitchell. Mike Shell received the Star Chapter Farmer Award. Rogena White was presented the DeKalb Award and the citrus sales award. Jonnie Hunt earned the Co-op Award and Terry Gilcrease won the Rabbit Award. Mark Bracker received the highest honor award as the "Outstanding Student".

Shortly after school was out, Rogena White was crowned Miss Poll-Ette for 1979. She was awarded a $500 scholarship from the Texas Polled Hereford Breeders Association.

FTA contributes district officer

The Future Teachers of America, sponsored by Ms. Charlotte Roux and Ms. Joyce Appling, were dedicated to enhancing knowledge of teaching, public relations, and human relations.

FTA's activities included selling candy and boutonnieres, polishing apples for the faculty, and attending conventions.

Six members attended the 30th annual Texas Future Teachers of America State Convention, which was in Fort Worth, February 23 to 25. Staci Sontag was inducted as the District 5 treasurer, March 14, at District FTA banquet.

Club spreads economics

Making students more aware of the American economic system was one of the goals of the Students for Free Enterprise Club. President, Steve Benesh, said that this year the group studied ways to spread the concept of a Free Enterprise system.

Club members attended a Students for Free Enterprise Seminar held at Lamar University. Also, students talked to people with businesses in Beaumont about their role in the economic system.

In the spring, a monopoly tournament was held. About 50 students entered the tournament which lasted for several weeks.

Because of their interest, the club was awarded a plaque recognizing their efforts to support Students for Free Enterprise. Steve Alston served as Vice-President of the club and Mr. Robert Edwards was sponsor.

Workers tackle industry jobs

Industrial Cooperative Training helped students planning to seek jobs oriented with industry. Many different jobs were offered in the ICT program and these jobs provided students with the kind of working environment that taught them responsibility and independence.

All ICT students were active in VICA (Vocational Industrial Club of America). Also active in the club were Mr. Beaugh's Auto Mechanics classes. VICA provided group activities like contests, sales projects, and parties. And the club's employer's banquet was held at Moncla's where the workers came to show their appreciation to their bosses. The banquet was in March and served to close out the year.

VICA members entered in district and state contests. Winners were: Eddie Gipson — third in state (small engine repair): and Ben Sanders — excellent rating in state contest (student project).

Distributive Education Clubs of America had in it all students enrolled in Distributive Ed. The DE program included a variety of jobs. Some of the businesses that employed FP students through their sponsor, Mr. Ray Ayres, were Carpetland, Weingarten's, Sutherland Lumber, RMD Automotive Electric, and Medical Mart.

Three DE students got awards of merit at DECA's Houston Area contest. They were Mark Traylor, Dan McDill, and Pat Madigan, awarded for sales demonstration.

At Christmas time, the club gathered at Schlesinger's Nursing Home, bringing candy canes to each bedside and singing carols, followed by partying. Another party ended the year.

A HERO's welcome

Although in its first year, one of the most successful clubs at FP in 1978-79 was sponsored by Mrs. Phyllis Smith, Home Economics Related Occupations. Students taking home economics cooperative ed. worked on jobs ranging from busing tables to furniture assembly.

Awards for outstanding job performance were earned by Lou Whitaker, Tammy Crenshaw, and Helen Long, with honorable mentions going to Dale Borque, Herby Ballance, James Reed, Therese LoBue, and Cheryl Kotz. The HECE seniors also got special awards.

The members of HERO actively participated in school and community ventures. They prepared spirit banners that went up in the cafeteria before football games. In ICC football, HERO placed second.

They also contributed many items to the Title 7 rummage sale, and at Christmas, gave gifts to a needy family. The club also raised $111 for muscular dystrophy in the dance-a-thon in April. They brought food for people at Franklin House and ended the year with the annual "Bosses Night" appreciation banquet.

Math Club works for solutions

The Math Club elected their officers at the beginning of the year. Officers were: Jimmy Wilson, President; Roger Hurst, Vice President; Julie Weiss, ICC; Tracy Fowler, Secretary; and Patty McMurtrey, Treasurer. Sponsors were Mrs. Mary Ellen Smith and Mr. James Craig. The club included 40 members.

The Math club participated in several contests in the area. In the West Orange contests, Walter Kiefer placed first in trigonometry and in science. Scott Sherron received a fifth place in Algebra I. Other contests the students participated in included one in Pasadena and one in San Antonio. The tests contained trigonometry, algebra, and geometry problems.

The major contest in which the Math Club entered was at Lamar, which lasted all day. Walter Kiefer was awarded an honorable mention in problem solving.

Concerts and plays treat Fine Arts Club

Along with their monthly meetings, the Fine Arts Club sponsored by Mrs. Ann Doyle attended most of the Beaumont Symphony Orchestra concerts. They also attended the Beaumont Community Players production of "Count Dracula."

The club also sponsored a talent show. At their first meeting of the year the 78-79 officers were elected: President — Molly Harris, Vice President — Dane Duhon, Secretary — Laura Segura, Treasurer — Carolyn Fickenscher, Historian Carolyn Carter, and Publicity — Jeanine Thames.

To end the year in March, the Fine Arts Club traveled to Houston for a day at the zoo and the Galleria. They saw "Don Juan in Hell" at the Alley Theatre.

The Marquee Players began their year with a presentation of Rock 'N' Roll, which was followed by a Hollywood Christmas party. The members, all dressed as their favorite movie star, chose Margie Becker as having the best costume. She received the Pie-in-the-face award.

The Marquee Players also sent twelve members to the International Thespian Society Convention. They reviewed plays and musicals, voted on officers, and attended workshops.

After the convention, the members began work on the U.I.L. one-act play The Madwomen of Chaillot.

The Thespian Initiation Week wrapped up the year for them. The Marquee Players Banquet was held on May 20.

Choirs fill corridors with song

Three choirs filled the corridors with song, Odyssey, Girls Chorale, and Mixed Choir. Mrs. Marilyn Hebert directed the Choir program.

Performances ranged from a patriotic Thanksgiving program to three talent shows in the spring. Choir members toured area schools with programs and sang a Christmas Cantata with the orchestra for the Parent Teacher Association.

The Choirs and language clubs also presented a Christmas program for the school which explained the traditions of the holiday season. In April the choir and the orchestra made a commercial for a local bank.

Competition was another side to choir performances. The Odyssey group took the sweepstakes award in the UIL group contest. The Mixed Choir received an excellent for concert performance and an excellent in sight reading.

Seven FP singers were selected for the All-Region choir. Jeanine Thames, Stuart Standley, and Geoff Gurney were All-Area finalists. Jeanine went on to perform in the All-State Choir.

Forty-eight girls were selected for the All-Region choir. Over 70 FP students competed in the UIL Solo and Ensemble contest. Singers prepared solos, madrigals, quartets, and trios. Mrs. Hebert's students received 97 superior ratings for their performances.

Speaking to the issues

Change dominated the National Forsenic League (NFL) Speech Club this year as former sponsor Mrs. Anita Smith transferred to the English department and Mr. Leroy Spears became the new NFL Sponsor.

The major event for the Speech club was the Fifth Annual Blue and Gray Invitational Speech Tournament, the FP tournament which NFL and Marquee Players hosted. Terri Harrel and Johnny Remiriz presided as tournament co-chairmen, with other club members participating as chairman of events, time keepers and concessions. Twenty-nine schools competed in this state qualifying tournament.

In debate, Bill Miranda and Johnny Remiriz placed second at both the Texas Forsenic Association (TFA) Speech tournament and the NFL District Speech Tournament, but missed both national competitions by one loss. Also qualifying to compete at the TFA state tournament were Terri Harrel, advancing to semi-finals in oratory; Barry Hatton and Bobby Cousins, both competing in extemporaneous speech. At NFL district, Bobby Cousins and Johnny Remiriz reached semi-finals in extemporaneous speech.

Placing in UIL district were Brian Reeves, second; and Mike Breedlove, third; both in informative extemporaneous speech; and Terri Harrel, third in poetry interpretation. These students qualified for UIL regional competition.

The NFL end-of-the-year banquet took place at Cody's, then progressed to Ellen Rawls' house. New NFL members were initiated and the officers were announced. Ellen Rawls and Bill Miranda will be next year's co-presidents. Awards were also presented to members for outstanding achievement and dedication.

Club has fiesta year

Spanish students had an eventful year. These activities included a Halloween party at Christy Riedmeuller's home, where everyone designed costumes to wear, and the best was awarded a prize. Many students brought a Mexican dish to their next club meeting which was at Kate Bordages's home.

In March the students met at Don's Seafood. An impressive candlelight ceremony highlighted an evening where new members of the Spanish Honor Society were inducted.

The Spanish Club dinner in the school cafeteria proved to be a successful fund-raising project, being catered for the first time by Federico's.

During the Easter holidays, seven Spanish students, accompanied by Mrs. Litha Woddail, traveled to Mexico City, where they visited the pyramids at Teotihucan, the Chapultepec Castle and Park, the Guadalupe Shrine, and several Mexican factories.

Certificates were awarded to the club officers at the end-of-year picnic at Rogers Park. The officers were: Vicky Gregorcyk, President; Chris Arrington and Julie Jones, Vice Presidents in charge of membership; Kate Bordages in charge of social functions; Nathan Maynor was in charge of publicity; Treasurer Paige Burrell; Rolan Gordon, Secretary, and Donnie Ahysen, Sergeant-at-arms. German students TAG a play, soccer

What's soft and chewy and sticks to the ceiling: Gummi Bears, of course. There were 69,520 Gummi Bears sold this year. While some students enjoyed the taste of the delicious morsels, some of them enjoyed cementing them to the ceiling.

On October 5, the German Club had their first meeting where they elected the 78-79 officers: President — Mike Lane, Vice President — Kevin Hawkins, Historian — Danna Abney, and Treasurer — Julie Atkins.

On October 11 they sponsored a bike ride which included activities such as picnicking and photography.

To end the year, in April, many German Club members attended the Tags (Texas Association of German Students) convention in Huntsville. Mike Lane's play, Laki's Liebe, a love story about giants, was presented there. A soccer team was put together which also competed at the convention.

Roamin' thru Latin

The Latin students enjoyed a full year. The first meeting was on a rainy September night at First Security National Bank. Officers gave speeches and welcomed new members. The officers were: Bill Holmes and Laura Segura, co-consuls; Elizabeth Brandes and Belinda Suire, co-historian; Teresa Davis, treasurer; Carolyn Carter, secretary; Ellen Unger, social secretary; Kristie Erickson, reporter; Andrew Wescoat, photographer; Glenn Campbell, parliamentarian; Gene Hughes, Torch editor; Robert Jackson, ICC representative; and Karen Geheb, contest chairman.

The annual picnic and slave auction was at Tyrrell Park, with Susan Brown reigning as top slave. Andrew Owen and Nancy Delboy were best boy and girl slave.

Ghosts and goblins roamed about the Hughes home at the Halloween party. Robert Paragi, dressed as a spaceman, won the best costume contest. There was also a spook house and a fortune teller.

Beginning with Christmas carols at Autumn Hills, the progressive dinner turned into what Belinda Suire called "a huge success." At the last home, they exchanged gag gifts.

The Gulf Coast Convention met at Dobie High in Pasadena. Forest Park received second place sweepstakes, with Bill Holmes presiding as Area A chairperson. The Latin club also attended the Texas State Convention in Mesquite, Texas. They brought home third place sweepstakes, with Bill Holmes making the state certamen. The scrapbook won a first place.

After the April flood, they held their Roman Banquet at Tyrrell Park. The Latin I classes provided the entertainment, and the Latin II classes decorated. The end of the year banquet was at Don's Seafood Restaurant. Teresa Davis presented the clubs awards and Mrs. Emmons handed out the class awards. Mary Wolcott was given the "Down the Drain Award" for being the most active Latin I student.

Parlez-vous français? Oui!

The year of 1978-79 was a very successful one for the French Club. Even though their sponsor, Mrs. Stevens, was absent for six weeks at the beginning of the year, they managed to carry on. They began the year by winning the championship of ICC football (with the help of Mrs. Burger). Then they continued on to have one of the most successful Homecoming mum sales in Forest Parks history.

The club celebrated many holidays during the year, and held a get-together every month. Some of these were the Halloween Masquerade Party, the Progressive Dinner, and the Gallette de Rois Party.

Both new and old members shared the disappointment when the flood waters caused the New Orleans trip to be postponed. But, nevertheless, the trip turned out to be a great success, and was thoroughly enjoyed by all who participated.

To bring the year to a close, they held their annual end of the year banquet. After enjoying one of Red Carpet Inn's seafood buffets, the officers for the year 79-80 were announced.

The officers for the year were: President — Jeff Milligan, Vice President — Mary Elrod, Historian — Melissa Haseldon, Secretary — Georganne Simpson, Publicity — Christi Post, Treasurer — Karen Cleveland, ICC — Ellen Rawls.

Honor Society rewards academic work

Amid glowing candles, the new members of National Honor Society came forward to receive their membership cards. These students were given this honor for recognition of leadership and scholarship.

Senior, Donna Fenner said, "I think it is really good when students can be rewarded for their scholastic achievements."

Mrs. Betty Farr served as sponsor.

Editors give the 'final word'

On May 9, the annual Quill and Scroll banquet was at Moncla's. This event has been held for twelve years for the yearbook, newspaper, and literary magazine staffs.

In the past years the editors of each staff presented gag gifts to their staffs. Instead of gag gifts this year they gave gag awards which ranged from the Inflated Ego awards to the Macho Man awards.

Quill and Scroll members were initiated by Becky Gee. These students had excelled in publication work and ranked in the top third of their academic class. Initiates received their membership cards and pins at the banquet.

Lum Edwards, Carla Akers, and Dennis McGinnis received pins for their winning entries in the National Quill and Scroll competition. Becky Gee received a Medallion for her editorial which placed third in the state newspaper contest. The evening was then climaxed by the announcement of next year's editors and staffs.

Earning office jobs

The Vocational Office Ed. workers ended the year in an unusual setting, for their Bosses Banquet occurred during that flash flood, which didn't let up until it poured eleven inches of rain on Beaumont.

But that is not to say their year was "fated", since these students, the members of Office Education Association, were involved in many things. These office workers helped the other clubs assemble their banquet programs and also printed the student directories.

The students taking VOE worked on various office jobs and all became members of OEA. The data processing students were allowed to join OEA as they wished.

Club adds computer dating

The Data Processing Club included students taking any computer course, and some decided to also join OEA — a choice given to all data processing students.

The club's major function was social, with gatherings upon most major holidays and some that were felt as deserving celebration.

In March, Tim O'Pry placed third at the State Meet in Fortran IV proficiency. And another new club project which proved successful was a computer dating service, involving all interested FP personnel who were able to describe themselves in the questionnaire.

State Champs !!!!

Under the direction of Mr. Dean Fishburn, the orchestra was chosen first in the state at Honor Orchestra competition in November. The orchestra submitted a live recording to be judged against other high school orchestra tapes from throughout the state. In March, they gave a concert for the Texas Music Educators Convention in Fort Worth.

"It was the most exciting moment of my life when we found out we had won," said Tim Brasfield.

The orchestra had worked most of the year preparing for this honor. After working every Tuesday and Thursday night, and early mornings and afternoon, the group felt they earned the award.

In between preparing for state competition, the orchestra also participated in U.I.L., made a record, and sold stationery for their fund raising project.

A small ensemble toured with the choir as accompanists. The orchestra also made a commercial for a local bank. In May, the entire orchestra competed in U.I.L. at BCP where they received a sweepstakes trophy.

Orchestra members also had many individual achievements. Patty Bradley won a state award on cello, and played in the TMEA all state Symphony Orchestra. She also performed in the Beaumont Symphony Orchestra for the second year. Kyle Meyers played in the B.S.O. Several of the musicians won scholarships.

POPULI VERBUM

THE WORD OF THE PEOPLE

The sixteen member staff of Populi Verbum (PV), Forest Park's newspaper, strove to provide an accurate and comprehensive coverage of events at FP.

"People don't realize how much hard work goes into a publication," said editor Becky Gee.

But despite late deadlines, illness, and general panic, the staff produced nine issues of PV. The staff included Becky Gee, editor; Geoff Gurney, managing editor; Carla Akers, news editor; James Clark, sports editor; Lum Edwards, artist; and Brett Hurst, typist. Reporters were Shari Miller, Kathy Lagaza, Suanne Salim, Jeff Milligan, Shannon Stordalen, Lori Angelo, and Nancy Meyers. Staff Photographers were Ann Ford and Dennis McGinnis. Mrs. Sara Penny was advisor.

Students planned, reported and wrote the articles which concentrated on school activities. Articles also gave recognition to individual students. Production was completed when the last pages were ready for the Triangle Press Printers.

March 16 and 17, seven journalism students traveled to the University of Texas in Austin for the Interscholastic League Press Conference. In the Individual Achievement Awards, Becky Gee was ranked third in the state for an editorial on education. Populi Verbum received an Award of Honor in the newspaper ratings.

Carla Akers, Lum Edwards, and Dennis McGinnis were chosen Gold Key winners in the Quill and Scroll National Writing Contest. They were among the 226 winners out of 3,383 entries in the national contest.

The Quill and Scroll Banquet wrapped up the year, May 9 at Moncla's Catering Service. Editors and staffs for next year were also announced.

Long hours, hard work

Cropping, job-stamping, and long summer hours were all familiar to the '79 Trojan staff. The 15 students, with Mrs. Sara Penny advising, put together the entire book. Pages were drawn, pictures chosen, and words written. Hours were spent after school and during the summer. The students raised money by selling ads to local businesses.

STYLUS named best literary magazine

"I like it. It's a good title, but with poor punctuation." These are comments you may have heard if you attended a Stylus meeting.

The 10 member board criticized poetry, art, photography, and music at each meeting. The board members, Editor — Alan Katzen, Assistant Editor — Dane Duhon, Layout Editor — Teresa Davis, Secretaries — Laura Segura, and Carolyn Carter, Photography Editor — Becky Gee, Music Editor — Patty Bradley, Treasurer — Glen Campbell, and Publicity — Carolyn Fickenscher, put in many hours of hard work to select material for their magazine.

The Stylus staff wrapped up the year at the Quill and Scroll banquet where they announced next year's editor and staff. Then the 78-79 Stylus was unveiled for the first time and then the staff presented Mrs. Ann Doyle, advisor, with a silver platter. At the end of the year the 78-79 Stylus magazine was announced the most outstanding literary magazine in the Trinity University competition in San Antonio, for high school publications.

English practices proper grammar

"Identify the adjective." "Where's the subject?" "Name the prepositional phrase." Instructions like these could be heard in the halls outside the English classes this year. Mrs. Doris Goolsbye, freshman English teacher, said, "Most of the English teachers are putting more emphasis on the basics and mechanics of grammar this year."

There were a few changes in the English Department at FP this year. All the teachers insisted on a uniform manuscript form for students to use. Standards for correct writing were also incorporated.

Each grade deals with a different level of English. Along with reading varied paperback books, the freshman dealt with writing complete sentences and basic grammar. Among the books that the freshmen read were Death Be Not Proud and Great Expectations.

The sophomores learned to form proper paragraphs and began studying the thesis paper. Among the books that they read were Silas Marner and The Call of the Wild.

Juniors wrote fall thesis papers and studied American poetry and authors. They read The Crucible and Huckleberry Finn.

Readin', writin' and film

Polishing and forming new English skills for college, and exploring creative interests were emphasized in the English electives. English IV is basically for college bound seniors who worked on emphasizing correct grammar in composition. The classes surveyed English literature and did their "favorite task", the research paper. As Mrs. Betty Farr said, "The students write as many compositions as the teachers' eyes can grade."

Reading students concentrated on vocabulary and on developing better, faster reading skills. It was also recommended for students with a weakness in reading skills.

Journalism I was an introduction to the mass media and served to train students for newspaper and yearbook staff work. J-I students spent a month on photography and put out an issue of the school paper.

Photography students learned to work in the dark room and to develop their own film. The students also entered the Scholastic Art Contest with Suzan Bruce and Kathy Lagaza receiving two of the four photo awards given in the area contest.

Filmmaking students made several three minute movies and studied animation. These students also made a presentation to the photography class.

Students who liked to write poetry, one act plays and short stories, got a chance in Creative Writing. Students shared their writings with the class and helped with the production of Stylus, the literary magazine.

Study fills library

A Christmas tree, a punch bowl, and artwork were among the open books of study throughout the year at the library. Students found the library a place of study during classes, before and after school, and during lunch.

Also, the "Munchkins" were still at work. The "Munchkins" were a group of students who worked in the library without receiving credit.

The Mary Nixon Reading and Research Room established this year, gave students an additional study area. PTA officers and faculty members helped plan this tribute to the former FP assistant principal. Funds were contributed by students and by community members.

Most of the artwork on display in the library was done by FP students, but some pieces were donated throughout the year.

In addition, a rubber plant and many books were donated. FP organizations and individuals gave books in the memory of Martha Tynes, Freshman student, Mrs. Mary Nixon, and friends and relatives of FP faculty. Also, books were donated in honor of students. An inscription on one donated book reads, "To the students of Forest Park High School on the occasion of my 53rd (yuk) Birthday. Margaret Kirkindall."

Mrs. M. E. Smith, Mrs. Irble I. Art students develop creative talents

"If you're willing to try, this class gives you a wide variety of fields in which you can experiment," said Nancy Dry. She was describing the arts and crafts class.

Students tried their skills at painting, drawing, sculpting, working with lime and pottery, making jewelry, and making other art objects.

The classes, with an enrollment of 250 students, were taught by Mr. Frank Gerrietts and Mrs. Carol Rodgers.

Mike Helms won a four year art scholarship to Lamar University and Melissa Clark's art work went to New York in the Scholastic Art Contest. FP took the "Top School Award" in the district competition.

There were also many winners in the Texas Art Educators Youth Art Month Show.

"It's really a treat working and developing their talents," said Mrs. Rodgers of her art students.

History studies humanity

American History was one of the required classes for freshmen students. Students studied history during the times of recent Presidents. Besides regular book work, students did reports and posters. Freshmen also saw films.

World History classes took notes, notes, and more notes. Classes started off the year by learning about the primitive world. Then students studied different civilizations. Some classes had a brief classical music session. At the end of the year, World History students studied Russia. During this time, they did book reports and took notes on some of Russia's rulers.

Sociology classes studied the habits of people. Also studied were problems such as alcoholism, discrimination, and peer pressure.

Government involves seniors

Getting involved in Government was something Government students got to do in and out of class. In the fall, students went by bus to Naturalization ceremonies at the Federal Building.

Also, Bruce Brown, Bobby Cousins, Greg Dyck, and Karen Geheb attended the Presidential Classroom at Washington, D.C. In the spring, Steve Burkhardt, Karen Geheb, Jim Hunter, and Gary Sharpless went to Stephen F. Austin University for a history test.

In the classroom, students learned about different branches of the government. Students also did research papers and had a brief study of economics. Classes got a better understanding of the court system by having a mock trial. Guest speakers included Judge Gist, Judge LaBlanc and Ray Riley, City Manager.

"Move back", an aerospace student warns his classmates as he launches his rocket. After learning about aircraft throughout the year, aerospace students practiced their knowledge.

Students were required to construct their own rocket or airplane. When weather conditions were favorable, each student watched his rocket hit the sky.

Astronomy students learned about the stars. Classes learned the position of stars at different times of the year and the names of constellations.

Geology students had pieces of the moon visit their class. The moon rocks were samples of those brought back by Apollo 11. Along with the rocks came films and slides explaining the Apollo missions and the moon itself.

Experiments Add Life

Most students started their science career at FP with Physical Science. Physical Science gave students a background for future science courses. Students were taught the metric system and its use in science. In addition, basic formulas were taught. Students also worked with laboratory equipment.

Biology I and II classes started with small organisms and moved to the complex human body. The smell of formaldehyde in the science halls indicated that Biology students were dissecting. Biology I students dissected fetus pigs, while Biology II students dissected jelly-fish and cats.

Symbols, formulas, and equations charged the brains of chemistry students. These students learned the 104 elements and their properties. Once the basic properties were learned, students studied different compound characteristics. Work in lab enabled students to observe the reactions of different chemicals. In addition to textbook instruction, films helped in the teaching of students.

As Cindy Johnson said, "It's enlightening." Cindy was referring to the study of light by physics classes. In addition, students studied sound and heat waves. Subjects such as momentum, energy, and power were taught. Films and experiments added to their learning. As a special project, Mark Brown constructed a hang glider.

Corridors echo math assignments

"Do page 321," "okay, for tomorrow . . ." "do the even problems." Near the end of class, assignments could be heard in the halls outside math classes. Day-to-day assignments were broken up by special activities throughout the year. Geometry students made geometric Christmas cards and Algebra II students formed conic sections with wax paper.

Only two years of math were required for Forest Park students, but many students decided to continue their math education. Students taking Algebra II extended their Algebra I knowledge. Trig-Analysis combined Algebra and Geometry skills. Calculus classes studied rate changes.

Senior, Jim Hunter, said that Analysis was "excellent preparation for pre-engineering mathematics."

Karen Geheb, senior, said that four years of math helped prepare her for future endeavors.

Teachers used visual aides to help them instruct students. Overhead projectors enabled Algebra I teachers to go through step-by-step instruction. Other levels of math used three-dimensional figures to instruct students.

Club seeks action

Gaining action for the studentbody as a whole was the purpose of the Forest Park Action Club during their first year. Getting new books and new equipment for students was one of their goals. Also, members helped decorate for the Christmas program.

Throughout the year, the club sold bake goods to students passing by the portable buildings. The club also sold baked goods on Trojan Games Day.

In the spring, members participated in the Golden Triangle Olympics sponsored by YMBL. Several students came in first place in various events. Brian Cannon, Stacie Chance, and Sherri Rollins won their 50-yard dash events. Keith Eason and Ronald Parker won the softball throw. Stacie Chance, Keith Eason, Richard McKaughan, Jim McLemore, and Sherri Rollins, took first place in the 440-yard relay. The high jump was won by Bob McFarlane and Jim McLemore. Other first place winners included Kim Badgett in the wheel chair races, Richard McKaughan in the tug-of-war, and Ronald Parker in the standing broad jump.

Officers of the new club were: Jeff Bankston, President; Rene Haggard, Vice-President; Thelma Bobb, Secretary; Renee Sonnier, Treasurer; and David Graham, ICC Representative.

Typing fills halls

"A-L-L space T-H-E space, return, keep your eyes on your books, don't look at your hands, feel for the keys, . . ." During the first several weeks of school, these words could be heard through the halls near the typing classes. After the students learned their keys, they began taking timings and typing paragraphs. By the end of the year, students were typing business letters, memos, tables, and manuscripts.

Typing II students concentrated on manuscripts and letters. The students also had a legal unit. During the third trimester, students worked with actual office conditions. Mrs. Mary Ann Johnson said that some Typing II students want to build their speed and accuracy, while others are preparing for office work.

Learning the business

Business classes concentrated on different aspects of the business world. Some courses dealt with money and how the economic system works. Other courses prepared students for office work.

Personal Business Management classes investigated banks and banking systems. They also studied checking accounts, consumer protection laws, insurance, and credit. In the spring, students learned about taxes and filling out tax forms.

Accounting dealt with money and prepared students for office work. These students studied the accounting cycle. Throughout the year, they prepared income statements, balance sheets, financial statements, sales and cash receipts. At the end of the year, students managed the finances of a business.

"Good morning, are you ready for dictation?" A man on cassette tape greeted shorthand students giving them the feel of working in an office. Students also took timings to help build speed. After taking dictation, students typed from the shorthand.

Business Law classes investigated different aspects of the law and cases involving these laws. Open discussions on sample cases enabled students to understand laws involving business transactions. Guest speakers talked about consumer fraud and juvenile law.

Insurance classes had one trimester to learn the history of insurance and different types of insurance available.

Building better home skills

Pizza, pudding, and fruit dessert were a few of the delicacies which came from the Homemaking rooms. Homemaking I and II students cooked a complete lunch and dinner meal. They also learned to cook with foods from the four basic food groups. "We think we have a good program because people need to learn about proper nutrition," said Mrs. Susan Glazier.

Leading the young homemakers were Mrs. Joyce Compton, Mrs. Susan Glazier, Miss Ester Barbar, Mrs. Peggy Wood, and Mrs. Teresa Gigliotta. Among several great speakers were Mrs. Joyce Ruth, Mrs. Sue Kendall, Mrs. Melanie Cameron, Mrs. Barbara Coy, Mrs. Christie Heiner, and Miss Katherine Streetman. They spoke on subjects ranging from sewing with tricot fabrics to energy conservation tips for the homemaker.

In addition to homemaking, students also learned sewing, child development, interior decorating, and home management.

Boys in sewing made shirts, while girls made dresses and shirts. Child development taught students proper child care. Interior decorating taught students proper decorating styles. Home management taught students how to budget and run a home.

'Ag' trains better farmers

With 110 students enrolled in Agriculture classes, Mr. Rexell White and Mr. J. J. Jimerson had quite a load on their hands. There were four different "Ag" classes taught.

First year Agriculture prepared students for agricultural hobbies or related jobs in the field. "Ag I" students kept a home project for the year. These projects could be anything from gardening to raising rabbits. Many of the students even made money from their projects.

"Ag II" prepared students looking toward careers in agriculture.

Co-AG. was for students who went to school for half a day and then worked in related fields of study.

"Ag teaches the students responsibility," said Mr Jimerson.

Driving to auto jobs

Learning new techniques and proper procedures were the goals of the auto-mechanics classes. The students had two teachers during the year. The first, Mr. Thomas Welch and the second, Mr. Allen Beaugh.

"We do work on student and faculty cars for free except for a $2 stall fee," said Gary Praznik, auto-mechanics I student.

Auto-shop students first learned from textbooks, then got firsthand experience by actually working on cars.

Auto-shop is a three hour class. Many of the students in it already had or planned careers in automotive related jobs.

Working with wood

With about 200 students enrolled, the two woodshop teachers Mr. Ian Stewart and Mr. Ken Haley had some unique projects come out of the woodshop lab. They varied from wittling sticks and jewelry boxes to rolltop desks and Grandfather clocks.

Woodshop I teaches students the basic types wood, ways of cutting wood, how different types of wood are grown, the types of tools needed, tools used to make projects, and finally the best techniques to use for making their projects. The first project the Woodshop I students made was a jewelry box.

Toward the end of the term Woodshop I students made things such as a chest or a mantle clock. Willian Miller, a Woodshop I student, commented on his project, a mantle clock, "the reason why I made the clock was because I got to use a wide variety of tools and it made a nice Mother's Day gift for my mother".

Woodshop II students worked on advanced projects such as china cabinets, and Grandfather clocks. Said Mr. Haley, "This year's Woodshop classes worked hard to complete their assigned projects."

Students learn drafting skills

Putting your thoughts onto blueprint was the goal of the Drafting students this year. Students first took Drafting I taught by Mr. Ken Haley and Mr. T. Thomas. It teaches the basics of drafting.

In Drafting I students learned drafting fundamentals, drafting materials and the Assembling drawing. Students in Drafting II, taught by Mr. T. Thomas, studied specific areas of drafting. Students studied building layouts and houseplans in Architectural Drafting. Machine Drafting and Technical Drafting were also taught. Mr. Haley described the purpose of drafting, "Everything has to be built once on a Drafting table."

P.E. aids health

P.E. classes allowed students to participate in sports such as football, softball, basketball, and volleyball. Other sports included archery, badminton, golf, ping pong, tennis, and folk dancing. Warmup exercises and some jogging started the P.E. classes.

Driver's Education students had more written work than in previous years. In addition to a Texas Drivers' Handbook, Driver's Education textbooks were used. Students watched films which asked questions about different driving situations.

Two rows of simulated cars formed a corridor in the driver's education trailer. Students operated the simulator cars like actual cars using a film on the screen as a road. After these students passed a written driver's test and obtained their restrictive license, instructors took them on the roads to practice driving.

Some junior and senior students worked as aides to teachers and faculty. Library aides checked out books, placed books on shelves, and kept the library in order. Teachers' aides graded papers, typed stencils, ran off worksheets, put up bulletin boards, made posters, and recorded grades.

Office aides performed a variety of duties. Attendance aides picked up absentee slips, checked roll, and kept attendance records. Assistant Principals' aides took slips to classes and filed excuses, notes, and SAC records. Counselors' aides helped with schedules. Mrs. Polly Parker's aides wrote passes and directed visitors. The Nurse's aides took names of students visiting the nurse, Mrs. Gladys Clegg.

Health students studied the effects of different elements on the body. These students studied mental health as well as physical health. Also students did special reports which were given orally to their classmates. In addition, First Aid was a part of their studies. Guest speakers talked to classes about subjects such as Drug Abuse.

School board makes decisions

The corridors of the South Park Administration building were a part of education. Although few students visit the administration building, many important decisions were made there. The School Board had the task of choosing priorities which would benefit students.

In December, the Board approved a bid for construction of a new field house. By the end of the year, construction was well under way.

Also constructed this year was a new student parking lot. The parking lot was built adjacent to the south side of the football stadium.

Several departments benefited by receiving new equipment. About 25 typewriters were distributed in the school. In addition, the Ag department received a pick-up truck to use.

The Board also made decisions concerning the faculty. Salaries and Social Security benefits were adjusted. Mr. Jerry Mallett and Mr. Edward Senigar were granted a leave of absence to further their education. Also, six teachers were transferred during the year to make adjustments in the district's racial balance.

At the end of the school year, the School Board got a closer look at some of the students. During the May meeting, outstanding students representing various activities in the school were introduced to the Board. School Board members were also present at graduation to help distribute diplomas.

Administration pushes forward

"To Humanize the school as a whole and make school a place where a student can relate," were Principal Jerry Mallett's objectives for this year. Mr. Mallett made many changes this year. Among these were a new student parking lot, planning a new field house, taping all textbooks for students who have trouble reading, and developing a program for dropouts at the "Oaks."

Mr. Harry Neville's good natured goal for the year was simple, "Get all the seniors out and make millionaires out of them." He wanted to have an active and enjoyable year.

Mrs. Alice Womack, junior principal, got a new look at students and school life, the Assistant Principal look. This was her first year as an administrator. She said she wanted to concentrate on special problems with girls, since she's the only female administrator. She also "wanted to get to know the students." Mrs. Womack was an English teacher at Hebert High School before she took Mrs. Mary Nixon's role as assistant Principal.

Principal for the sophomores, Mr. Sammy LaRue, worked towards improving instruction and helping teachers with problems. He also visited the rooms more often.

"Help the Freshman adjust to high school life" was Mr. Edward Seniguar's objective for the year. Mr. Seniguar was in charge of the freshman class. He wanted to promote school spirit and pride among the freshman class, hoping that it would carry through their years at FP.

Mr. Harry Neville, assistant principal, presided as acting principal. History teacher, Mr. George Turner, took Mr. Seniguar's place as acting assistant principal. "This has been a challenging experience," said Mr. Turner. Mr. Mallett and Mr. Seniguar both returned weekly to assist with the administrative duties.

Assisting the administration was the efficient office staff. Polly Parker answered the phone, arranged for substitutes, and tended to the front office. Colleen Walker was the assistant principals' secretary and the textbook custodian. Tommye Tevis, the principal's secretary, was also in charge of accounting for the school's money from South Park school district.

The attendance clerk was Mrs. Betty Sanders. Mrs. Lou Henderson, the registrar, was in charge of student schedules and records. Mrs. Mary Nix was the counselors' secretary. The nurse was Mrs. Gladys Clegg.

The freshman counselor was Mrs. Barbara VanMeter. Counselor for the sophomores was Mr. Henry Compton. Mr. H. E. Martin was the counselor for the juniors. Mrs. Mildred Barton was the counselor for the seniors. The counselors' duties included helping students to sign up for the proper classes, apply to colleges, and apply for scholarships.

"It's a job"

Cooking and cleaning for over 2,000 students is as Hazel Cahanin put it, "It's a job." "I like the work" said Mary Wallace, who has been cleaning at FP since classes started here 18 years ago.

At 6 a.m. Edna Batiste arrived at FP and started the air conditioning or heating. She was also in charge of cleaning up before and after all the dances.

James Touchet cleaned the field house and restrooms after football games. During the week he was at the school until 11 p.m. There are eight custodians who came in at 2 until 8 p.m., five days a week. They swept and cleaned the rooms.

The burden of all maintenance fell on the head of Mr. Alvin Ozio who lived on school property and was head school custodian for six years. "I'm proud of what we do here," he said. "I really have a good staff."

"It's getting hectic, with increased student participation in the lunch program." remarked cafeteria head Mrs. Cathrine Hall. She was in charge of FP's cafeteria since the school opened. Mrs. Hall and her staff provided a variety of lunches for 55¢. Feeding over 1,000 students each day required a staff of 14.

The cooks arrived at 7:30 a.m. and started baking rolls. They offered a breakfast program for the first time and also served three lunch periods.

Varsity sets FP football record

The 1978 varsity football record of six wins and four losses was the best in the history of Forest Park. Under the strong guidance of Coach Carswell, the Trojans blasted their way through an impressive season, often giving an inspiring second effort to come from behind in the final moments of a game.

Although this year's first game was lost to Humble, the team was definitely fired up, said Coach Carswell. They came back the next two weeks to beat Bridge City 14-12, and totally destroy BCP 35-0. The next three weeks saw heartbreaking losses to PNG, Vidor, and Lincoln.

October 20, though, brought the recovery from the losing streak, as the Mighty Trojans defeated Nederland 15-14 in the last two minutes of the game, in front of a jam packed home crowd. The next week, the Trojans equally pleased the school, stomping French 28-14.

Forest Park's Homecoming followed, and the team, much to the delight of a well-dressed crowd, defeated WOS 10-6. The team finished the year on a good note, beating T.J., 10-0.

All District players were offensive tackle, Kyle Sterling; defensive guard, Mark Nicholson; offensive end, Rob Carswell; and place kicker, Hughes Maddux.

Junior Varsity takes 8-2 season

Ending the year with an 8-2 season, the 1978 Junior Varsity team stormed through the area, tying Port Neches-Groves for first place in district play. Often combined with the sophomore players, the junior varsity team played with a unified spirit. The defense, with linemen such as Randy Watkins, Brandt Hinojosa, and Mike Kuether as pluggers, backed up by a hardhitting secondary of Ben Brasher, Keith Chesnut, Tim Gaddis, Johnny Thomas, and Todd Mathews, allowed only an average of 10 points per game. Equally impressive, the offense scored almost 180 points for the season.

When asked whether the JVs had a stronger offense or defense, Head Coach Paul Carswell said, "They're both fantastic."

Hoopers build for next season

"Dribble it, pass it, we want a basket," roared the large crowds during the Varsity Basketball games.

After many hours of strenuous practice and hard work, the Trojan hoopers ended the season with an overall record of 13-17. Under coach Jerry Deines, the team ended the year with a district record of 6-10.

At the Y.M.B.L. tournament, the Trojans lost to Vidor (48-58), beat Laporte (64-47), and lost to Bridge City (53-60). The team won two games over Cypress Creek and Thomas Jefferson, and they lost two games against Kountze and Tara at the Nederland tournament. At the Thomas Jefferson tournament, Forest Park lost to Hebert and Nederland.

Senior Steve Woodward, 6'1", and junior Britt Birmingham, 6'3", both made Honorable Mention All District in the Port Arthur News. Tommy Tubbs, 5'9" made Second Team All District.

Senior Bill Holmes, 5'10", helped the Trojans with his extraordinary ability at free throws. Two other graduating seniors who helped the team were Jim Leiferman and Dave Palmer. "We worked together as friends on and off the court. Next year's team should have a good shot at the district title because of the work we accomplished this year," said Jim.

Tommy Tubbs was one of the leading scorers in district with an average of 14.6 points per game.

JV hooks close season, 13-14

"We played a lot of good Basketball," was the answer Coach Tom Wolters gave when asked to describe the 1979 Junior Varsity Basketball season. Ending the year with a 13-14 season, the JV Hoopers had a 9-2 record for non-district play, and a discouraging 4-12 roundup for district finals. "We lost a lot of close games," Coach Wolters said, concerning district play. The team's only overbearing losses came from French and BCP.

Consisting of about half sophomores and half juniors, the JV's only weak spot this year was rebounding. Losing Jim Cumbie to the Varsity team during the first round of district, Head Coach Wolters commented that the team had a real shortage of tall players.

Coach Wolters closing words were, "We made some fine Varsity players."

Fish gain basketball experience

A

The 1979 Freshman Basketball team finished the season with seven wins, sixteen losses, and a lot of knowledge. Under the guidance of Freshman Coach Jimmy Weaver, the freshman hoopers learned what high school basketball is all about. They learned how to follow the good leadership that Coach Weaver supplied, and how to apply their individual talents to a team effort.

Though only winning 30 percent of the games, the freshman team definitely enjoyed the season, said Coach Weaver. In an interview with forward Ralph Amerine concerning the season and Coach Weaver, Ralph said "He's pretty cool."

Varsity enters U.I.L. competition

The 1979 Girls' Varsity Basketball Team made their debut in U.I.L. competition with a 9-18 season record. Under Coach Cynthia Doyle, the Trojans placed fifth out of eight district teams with a record of 3-13.

District averages for the leading scorers were 6.6, Alice Blackwell; 6.6, Melinda Leger; 5.9, Sarah Bowlings; and 5.6, Marie Bowles, senior.

At the West Orange Stark Tournament, Forest Park defeated Port Neches-Groves (41-21) and lost to W.O.S. (51-29). Also, at the Forest Park Tournament, the Trojans won over South Park (29-25) and lost to Lincoln (33-38).

Hoopers whoosh fourth

The girls' Junior Varsity basketball team placed fourth in district with a record of 6-10. Under the coach of Miss Beth Hare, the hoopers ended the season with an overall record of 13-17.

"This year was really exciting even though we did place fourth in district," said Sharon Whiddon. "Miss Hare really put in a lot of time and effort to help us."

Two of the leading scorers were Sharon Fontenot and Sharon Whiddon. This was the first year for the girls to participate in the U.I.L. basketball league.

Freshman hoop second

The girls freshman basketball team ended their first year in the U.I.L. basketball league with a season record of 13-5. The girls placed second in the district with a record of 8-4.

"The whole basketball season was a total blast and we couldn't have done it without Miss Seaburg," said player Belinda Jeffcoat. The team practiced from 7 to 9 p.m. every week day except on game days. Sara Falcon was the team's leading scorer. Keri Williamson did extremely well on defense and Sharon Gregorcyk was excellent on offense.

At the Forest Park tournament, Jan. 26 and 27, the Trojans placed first. "Although there were many outstanding individuals on the team, the entire group played together extremely well throughout the season," said Coach Seaburg.

Harriers continue success

The Cross Country Team ran away with the district title for the sixteenth consecutive year. Performing an almost impossible feat, the Forest Park harriers trampled over their District 22-AAAA competitors.

Under Coach Ian Stewart, the Trojans headed off the season at the Baytown Invitational meet by placing fourth in a field of 33 schools, September 23. Pat Mitchell ran the two mile course in a time of 10:59. John Freeman followed closely behind with a time of 11:08.

At their next meet, the Trojans competed against 26 other schools at the University of Houston. Varsity John Freeman ended this 2½ mile race with a time of 14:25. Boyd Bryan followed behind with a time of 14:29. The Trojans placed seventh in this meet.

The cross country team completely dominated the 15th annual Golden Triangle Cross Country meet by taking seven of the first nine places. On this beautiful day of 78 degree weather, the Trojans finished 75 points ahead of Lincoln, who came in second in a field of eight teams.

John Freeman finished second in this two mile run in 10:28. Jeff Johnson, 10:29, was third; Boyd Bryan, 10:39, was fourth; Jim Hunter, 10:49, ranked fifth; Pat Mitchell, 10:51, placed sixth; Robert Calvert, 10:52, ran seventh; and Jack Carroll, 11:06, came in ninth.

Forest Park placed first at the six mile Cross Country Relay against Beaumont-Charlton Pollard, Lincoln, and Nederland. Jeff Johnson set a new course record of two minutes.

The Trojans placed first at the District Championship meet with Jeff Johnson finishing second and Boyd Bryan coming in third.

The mighty harriers placed seventh out of eighteen schools at the Regional meet. After the regular season, the cross country team participated in the National Amateur Athletic Union Championship in Houston, January 20th. The six Trojans who finished in this meet were Pat Mitchell, Bart Gaskin, Billy Robertson, Mark Bowles, Carolyn Sladaritz and Coach Stewart. "Cross Country offers a lot of personal satisfaction," said runner Bart Gaskin.

Because of the enthusiastic participation of Leslie Landry, Melinda Leger, Susan Foxworth, Marie Bowles, Carolyn Sladaritz, Paula Wheeler, and Carl Wheeler, the girls plan to form a regular Girls Cross Country team next year.

Track takes fourth in District

The Boys' Track team took first place in the H. Martin Relays, the Vidor Relays, and the Orange County Relays with 176, 188, and 122 points, respectively. The team also took second in the PNG Relays with 136 points, and third at the Hebert Relays with 108 points. For district, the boys took fourth place with 56 points.

In the 440 relays, the team of Dan Thomas, Dimitri Geeker, Trey Barclay and Carlie Lowe set a new school record of 42.7 seconds.

In the 120 high hurdles, Charlie Lowe ran a quick 14.3, also setting a new school record.

Rob Carswell was district champion and regional qualifier in the discus throw.

Charlie Lowe spoke for the team saying he felt very proud of the records and added that the team really gave it everything they had.

Individuals excel in track

Under the coaching of Mrs. Kay Mullins and Mrs. Cynthia Doyle, the girls track team ran six meets, two of which were out of town. The team placed seventh in district.

The first meet was at Forest Park, February 23 and 24. The Trojans placed fourth out of 18 teams. The girls also placed third out of 15 teams at the Liberty track meet.

The prelims for the district track meet were at the Babe Zaharias Stadium. The girls who placed sixth in the 440 relay were Jackie Otto, Veronica Campbell, Carla Wheeler, and Marie Bowles.

In the 880 dash, Marie Bowles placed first and went to regionals placing fifth. Jackie Otto placed third in the 220 dash and sixth in the 100 yard dash. Running the 880 relay and placing sixth were Paula Brown, Veronica Campbell, Marie Bowles and Carla Wheeler.

Melinda Leger placed third in high jump with a measurement of 5 feet 2 inches and Laurel Waggoner tied of fifth.

Boys' Tennis takes third in state

The 1978-79 Boys Tennis Team went undefeated. For a school record, the team took 32 wins and only one loss.

In doubles, Van Barry and Vaughn Bryan won district doubles, regional doubles, and went all the way to the state meet, where they took third place. Adding further to the team record, Bud Torres and Todd Clarke won second in district doubles.

In district singles, Boyd Bryan beat David Broussard and took first place.

The team as a whole this year racked up an impressive season, as they won the Lamar University Tournament, the Galveston Tournament, and the South Park Tournament. Also, for the first year they were invited, the team won the Baytown Invitational Tournament.

Coach Ian Stewart praised the "excellent group of kids" he had on this year's team. As a closing comment, Coach Stewart added, "We won everything we played."

Girls swing into district

The Girls Varsity Tennis Team netted first in district April 4-5 under the coaching of Carla Marcantel.

Cindy Berryman placed first in district singles with Cheryl Simcox placing second. Lori Barclay and Susan Foxworth placed first in district doubles with Alice Blackwell and Patti Harrigan placing second.

Floods prevented the team from attending the regional meet. A court order, however, allowed the students to compete at the state level, although they didn't place.

At the Texas Tennis Coaches Association State Championship Meet, F.P. (including the Boys Varsity Tennis Team) placed third in the state of Texas November 3-4.

In the Galveston tournament, Cindy Berryman placed first in the singles. In the Lamar tournament, Leanne Hill took first as Cindy Berryman took second in the singles.

On March 30, Cheryl Simcox was the overall winner in the girls B singles at Baytown. Patti Harrigan and Alice Blackwell was the overall winner in the girls B doubles.

"I had a great time playing on the team this year and Ms. Marcantel contributed a lot by bringing our team closer together," said Senior Karen McAlister.

Trojans look to next season

The 1979 Varsity Baseball Team ended the year with a season record of 13 wins and 16 losses. "We didn't do so great, but it sure was a lot of fun," said Varsity player Louis Knabeshah.

Under Coaches Tim Batson and David Dunivant, the Trojans placed third at the Coaches Tournament by winning over Galena Park (8-6), South Houston (7-1), Vidor (5-4), and losing to P.N.G. (2-3).

At the West Orange Tournament, F.P. smeared Deer Park (9-1) and lost to Stratford (0-1).

The team's leading batters were Steve Woodward with an average of 310 and Casey Meyers with an average of 290.

Kemp Mead was the team's leading pitcher; it was his first year on Varsity. Team captains were Steve Woodward and Louis Knabeshah.

Five graduating seniors were Steve Whelan, Hughes Maddux, Louis Knabeshah, Thomas Garner, and Steve Woodward. There are eleven varsity players returning next year. Team members elected Kemp Mead and Steve Woodward as the most valuable players.

J.V. catches district

Fantastic is the best word to describe the 1979 Junior Varsity Baseball Team. Under the coaching of Al J. Rabb, the Trojans ended the season with a record of 15-1. Placing first in district, the ballplayers ended with a district record of 6-1. "It was the greatest year J.V. ever had," said team member Ray Ptacek.

Placing first at the West Orange tournament, the Trojans also captured the District Championship.

The team's leading batters were Glynn Walker (490 average), Brandt Hinojosa (465 average), Ford Pratt (321 average), and Joey Warner (317 average).

Throughout the entire season, the Trojans scored a total of 136 points and their opponents only scored 43.

Team members learned to rely on each other during the season. "We couldn't have done it without the other guys," said Junior Wade Brown.

Golf swings fifth in district

The Golf Team took fifth place in district at Port Arthur Pleasure Island and Beaumont Tyrrell Park with a total score of 660 points.

Swinger Jim Cumbie took 78 in the first round and 80 in the second. Team Captain Gary Reinholt hit 80 and 83, while Jim Dillon played 87-81. Ward Sheldon took 83 at Pleasure Island and 87 at Tyrrell Park.

Player Mark LeBlanc said the team really enjoyed the season, while Gary Reinholt stressed the good leadership which Coach George Turner gave.

The team practiced every day during sixth period at Tyrrell Park, weather permitting. Coach Turner said the team spent a lot of their own time practicing, and that the golfers gave it all they had. For a closing comment on how much he enjoyed the season, Coach Turner just leaned back in his chair and smiled.

The following thirty-two seniors were selected from the entire senior class by the faculty and yearbook staff. They were chosen on the basis of service, character, leadership, scholarship, friendliness, and sportsmanship. Although only thirty-two were picked, this page represents the entire senior class of 1979.

Deadlines

These students worked all year toward a common goal. Whether it was working to meet a publication deadline or to prepare a Friday night half time show, they all had to finish their jobs, and when their deadlines were met, they all realized that it was worth while.

Becky Gee (A) grins for the camera after finishing the lunch hour edition of Populi Verbum. Becky was active in French Club, Fine Arts Club, N.H.S., Band and Distinquished American High School Students. She was also Co-president of Quill and Scroll, News Editor, Editor of Populi Verbum, and photography editor for STYLUS, and graduated Cum Laude. Mark Farnie (B) marches to Trojan Stadium for a half time show. Mark participated in the Wind Ensemble, Orchestra, Stage Band, and All Region Band. He was the Drum Major for the '78 football season, and was a member of the All State Honor Orchestra, N.H.S., and graduated Cum Laude. Sarah Moore, Lum Edwards, and Shiela Shields (C) discuss the '79 Trojan yearbook. Sarah was active in the Wind Ensemble, Concert Choir, F.H.A., Quill and Scroll, and Yearbook. Lum was on Student Council, Student Problems Committee, Populi Verbum, Trojan '79, Quill and Scroll, and was given a Quill and Scroll National Cartoonist Award. Shiela was editor of Trojan '79, a member of Quill and Scroll, Speech Club, and Marquee Players.

Robin Gordon (A) displays Homecoming fashion. Robin participated in Volleyball, Tennis, Tro-Janns, Choir, Fine Arts Club, and N.H.S. She was also secretary of the Spanish Club, active in Student Council, Young Republicans, and graduated Cum Laude. Christy Reidmeuller (B) cheers at a pep rally. Christy was in Tro-Janns, Student Council, N.H.S., and graduated Cum Laude. Vicki Stivers, Kate Blackwell, and Julie Johnson display winning smiles. Vicki was Cheerleader for four years, a member of F.H.A., and was on the Homecoming court. Kate was active in tennis, volleyball, track, Spanish Club, Student Council, and Cheerleader. Julie was Cheerleader, on the Homecoming court all four years, Homecoming Queen her senior year, Winter Ball Queen her four years at F.P., Jr.-Sr. Prom Queen, a member of the N.H.S., and graduated Cum Laude.

Athletes

These seniors helped the school by winning numerous athletic awards. Whether it was baseball, basketball, or track, they all worked hard to be newsmakers.

George Pratt (A) poses for the camera during a track meet. George was active in track, STYLUS, and was awarded a Scholastic Art Gold Key. Steve Woodward was in football, baseball, and basketball. He was also a member of the N.H.S. and class officer for four years. Steve graduated Magna Cum Laude. Pat Mitchell (C) sits down after a long jog. Pat was active in Band, track, Cross-country, and Latin Club.

Practice, practice, practice!

These students all shared a common factor — working hard to achieve personal goals through practice. Many of them won awards for the school and themselves. Most importantly, however, they shared their talents with others. All in all, their practice really paid off. Those seniors with special talents brought out by rehearsal were: Jeanine Thames, David Bedee, Patty Bradley, Sharon Streety, Glen Campbell, and Robyn Bunyard.

Senior picnic

As the week of graduation approached, the seniors had one last chance to get together at the Senior Picnic and Prom.

Friday afternoon, the senior class of '79 enjoyed bar-b-que from the Red Barn, basketball, frisbee, and other assorted games at Rodgers Park.

As the afternoon grew warmer, the activities increased as half the class played frisbee while the other half played "Red Rover".

Then that evening, following a buffet dinner for the entire class of '79 at the Red Carpet Inn, the seniors danced until the wee hours of the morning to the music of Powerhouse, and many proceeded to the beach.

We may never pass this way again

From the first day you walk through the corridors of Forest Park, until the last bell sounds on the last day of your senior year, graduation seems far, far, away. But as you received your cap, gown, and diploma cover, this dream became a reality.

When you thought of all the good and bad times you had had here at FP, you felt as if it shouldn't end so soon. But when you looked back on all the books, remembered all the teachers, and tried to forget all the tests, you realized that graduation came at a perfect time. And to celebrate this ending, the seniors enjoyed the Senior Picnic and the Senior Prom during the final week of School.

On the following Tuesday morning, we all met downtown at the Beaumont Civic Center to complete rehearsal for the blessed event that evening. We all found our assigned seats, and listened to Principal Jerry Mallett discuss what we were to do that night. A little later we practiced walking across the stage, and listened to hear if our names were pronounced correctly. As the day wore on, the intensity of the event grew.

When we arrived at the Civic Center that evening at 7 p.m., we were greeted by our fellow seniors, and again looked back on our last four years at Forest Park until the magic moment of 8 p.m. arrived.

As we marched into the center to the tune of Pomp and Circumstance played by our own State Honor Orchestra, the tension of 478 seniors filled the air. Speeches were given, introductions were made, and finally the names were called.

One by one each Forest Park senior walked to the stage and received their well earned diploma. Afterwards, Sharon Streety and Robyn Bunyard sang We May Never Pass This Way Again while each senior was happy that he had made it through 12 tough years of education. Steve Woodward, our class president, gave his last speech, and as we turned our tassels to the right, we realized that not only were we the first FP class to graduate in the Civic Center, nor that we were the last class of the decade, but that we had successfully become Forest Park graduates.

Seniors sing the school song (A) with their hands raised to indicate "We're Number One". The senior class marches into the Civic Center at the beginning of the Graduation ceremonies (B).

Closing

Dawn,

What can I say without taking up every page in your annual? I guess our friendship really started in 5th grade when we became best friends. Over the years since then I think we've become closer & closer every year. Even though sometimes we slow up but because we're so busy with other things, when we do get a chance to do things together its easy for us to pick up where we left off. We've had so many good times together that I'll never forget. Like all the great talks we've had & Chasing A.S. & A.O. last summer, & I sure won't forget "Astroworld" → what a joke! Thanks for always listening to my problems & making me happy when I feel down. Just remember that we'll always stick together through thick & thin. Even though sometimes I don't act like it, I really love ya a lot & I want us to always be great & close friends. I guess I'm stressing these so much because we haven't talked much lately & I really do miss it. I think you are so beautiful & have a great personality. Just stay the way you are & you're sure to make a success out of your life. Have fun — but be careful & take it easy! Good luck Always!

Best Friends Forever!

Dawn, I'm not sure, but I think I signed your annual on this ad last year. Anyway, I don't know what to say in this. I guess I'll start by saying I really DID have fun at Homecoming. Even though we were two hours late, the band was sorry, we weren't drunk, I got my seventh ticket and all that. In fact, the only reasons I did have fun were seeing everyone at the dance, and being with you. There aren't many people at all that I could have gone through all that with in one night and still have had fun. In fact, how many girls do I take to a stupid school dance with anyway? The more I'm around you and your little mannerisms, the more I like you and that is the truth. I keep thinking I may like you too much someday, but I guess that would be impossible. Drugs. "GIMME DRUGS" I love when you do that. Just about everything you do cracks me up some way or another. (JUST ABOUT) I can't see myself leaving Forest Park next year with you still here, but that's drugs. I guess. Maybe someday you'll come out to Austin and you'll play piano for some band and we'll get rich and tour the country. Well, I was gonna take up about 5 pages, but I think you'd probably get chapped. SO.....

MUCH LOVE, Brett

Trojan chariots cruise

Mustangs, Z28s, and Trans Ams were the most popular cars according to a Trojan '79 staff poll. Ford and Chevy trucks were also near the top.

There were all kinds of hot rods around. They would go into the Auto Mechanics all beat up and come out "hot rod" with two 4 barrel set up and high compression pistons, with high rise manifold, headers, and glass packs.

You name the car and it was on the parking lot. Cars were the "freedom machines" of the Trojan.s

Scott Montgomery (A) has fun in his Nova in the parking lot with Steve Hemphill, Jimmy Moreland, and Stacy Chance. Keith Ayres (B) drives in his Chevy truck. Steve Hemphill (C) leans against his Corvette. Amy Barton and Bill Holmes (D) talk in the parking lot in a RX-7. Kate Blackwell, Christy Riedmueller, Vicki Stivers, and Laurie Mayer show off a Trans Am.

Preparing to leave . . .

We sit, preparing to leave, gathering our books, throwing away once important papers. For they will be used no longer. Some of the things we learned were absorbed by our hungry brains, never to be forgotten. Others passed through without a second thought.

But right now we remember: friends to soon be lost, forever, teachers loved, and moments we will cherish. And we sit, looking at friends we promise to call, at teachers we promise to visit; knowing that we never will. Maybe in a few years we won't care, but right now, it hurts just a little.

Mrs. Judy Lucia shows her reaction to the senior mug sales. (A) Freshmen cheerleaders (B) help boost spirit during a pep rally in the stadium. Kyle Sterling, Kenny Mathews, Wes Abbey, and David LaBlue help move equipment from the choir room. (C) Mike Campbell (D) lends Becky Towns a hand as he sweeps her off her feet. Mark Trammel and Steve Hinchey (E) show Forest Park hospitality. Kelly Gentry (F) shows her form in barrel-jumping. Johnny Thompson and Bobby Sebile (G) watch together at the kickoff. Shannon Stordalen helps Cindie Leslie (H) get a drink from the fountain. Laura McClelland takes (I) a breather after working on the yearbook.

The students sit impatiently at their desks as the clock nears 12 noon. As the time clicks by, teachers step out and take their places by the door. A scattering of chairs, as students leap to their feet — and as the last classes are dismissed, the empty hallway is pulsating with excitement. "See you next year." "Thank God school is over." "Call me this summer." "PARTY!" Hollow voices breaking the silence and stillness of the aisles. The faces and figures all different, yet strangely the same. People gushing forth from the school, like a dandelion releasing its seeds to the wind. Each one drifting its own way, never to meet again. Such are the corridors. Watching, waiting patiently as the last lonely child walks slowly through her doors. As the door closes quietly behind her, the halls are left alone to sleep and to dream of the future and what it brings.

Art Graham (A) pauses for a minute in auto mechanics. Katherine Broussard and Ronnie Walker (B) enjoy a few moments together in the forum. Randy Pitre (C) learns the fine art of cow clipping in agriculture. Sallie Cook (D) cheers during an early morning pep rally. Lisa Marino (E) puts the finishing touches on an art project. Tammy Stroud (F) shows her strength as she tries to hold up an entire wall of lockers. Patricia Campbell and Carla Wheeler (G) share a few laughs before entering the normal routine of the day. Kay Ogden (H) and Mike Sommers have a meaningful conversation. David Reynard (I) rests a minute as he watches the Freshman football team play.

Here's to memories

"The memory is a treasurer to whom we must give funds, if we would draw the assistance we need."
— Rowe

The yearbook is a memory book, that you, the students write. You all have made the memories and cherished times, while we lock them away for later years. Without each student, and each staff and faculty member, none of us would have the memories that we do. I would personally like to thank each one of you for making this book possible, and I can only say that we hope you enjoy it. Since a book can only be as good as the people who write it, the Trojan '79 will undoubtedly be the best book ever.

So — here's to the memories.
